

It's time for your child's next shot...

If you don't already have an appointment, call your child's doctor today.

If you have any questions, call San Francisco Health Plan at 1(800) 288-5555.

Why Are Immunizations Important?

The most important shots are given when your children are still babies to help them grow into healthy children.

Babies need to get these shots before they are two years old to protect them from dangerous diseases.

Shots are given to babies in several doses. It's the best way to help them fight diseases as they grow.

Remember, shots help healthy babies and children stay healthy.
