

How to get services in your care network

Jade is a medical group made up of over 230 providers in the areas of primary and specialty care services in San Francisco. We are committed in delivering the highest quality, culturally sensitive, bilingual managed health care to our community. The network hospital for Jade Health Care is Chinese Hospital. If your Jade Health Care specialist works with another hospital, such as California Pacific Medical Center or University of California, San Francisco, you might get needed hospital care at the other hospital. Care at another hospital is covered if authorized by Jade Health Care. Call Jade Health Care at 1(415) 669-8003 for more information.
